PLUS BLOCKS

There are not any nested seams in this block, so you can press towards the dark side or open depending on what your preference is!

1. Sew one C2:A unit between two C1:A units. Make (1). It should measure 12 ½ inches wide by 5 inches tall. Repeat for C4, C5, and C6.
Sew one C3:B unit between two C1:B units. Make (1). It should measure 8 ½ inches wide by 5 inches tall.

2. Sub-cut each set from the previous step at 2 inches. You should get (6) 2 x 5 units from your C2, C4, C5, and C6 sets. You will get (4) 2 x 5 units from your C3 set.

3. Sew one C2:C unit between two of the units from the previous step, making sure you pair the colors together correctly. Each plus should now measure 5 inches square. Make (3) for C2, C3, C5, and C6. Make (2) for C3.

4. Sew one C1:C unit to the right of the following: (3) C2 units, (3) C5 units, (3) C6 units, (1) C3 unit, and (1) C4 unit. Each unit should now measure 6 ½ inches wide by 5 inches tall. You will not add a unit to (2) C4 units and (1) C3 unit at this time.

THESE STAY THE SAME

5. Use the labeled diagram below to piece your initial rows together. Note, the "EXTRA C" units are the units that were leftover in the previous step. Rows one and three should now measure 29 inches wide by 5 inches tall. Row two should measure 23 inches wide by 5 inches tall.

6. Sew two C1:D units to either side of row one. Repeat for row three. Sew two C1:E units to either side of row two. The rows should now measure 30 ½ inches wide by 5 inches tall.

7. Sew one C1:F unit below row one. Sew one C1:F unit above row three. Those rows should now measure 30 ½ inches wide by 5 ¾ inches tall. Sew row two between rows one and three. The block should now measure 30 ½ inches wide by 15 ½ inches tall.

8. Sew one C1:G unit above the unit from the previous step and the other C1:G unit below that unit to complete your plus block. It should measure 30 ½ inches wide by 17 ½ inches tall.
